Ticket Policy Board Created To Govern Preferred Buying

By Lynn Peckham
Assistant News Editor

The Activities Ticket Policy Board, with the power to regulate complimentary and preferred tickets for all social events was created by the Council Tuesday. The Request Committee established Tuesday, to be able for approving all budget request from organizations and the of major social activities. Tuesday, a Social Ticket under the vice president of activities had been deciding for complimentary and tickets. The ASBYU and vice presidents of finance were responsible for complimentary and tickets under this old and. Activities Ticket Policy which will replace the Ticket Board, will be of the vice presidents of culture, social activities, vice president and ticket chairman—a appointed by the ticket will be kept of people on complimentary or tickets, and problems or could be handled by the Council. ent lists have been kept, has been a penchant for presidents to use the privilege of giving away tickets to minor functions for their own self-aggrandizement," said Jay Eltner, business manager of the Wilkinson Center. "When I say that," Eltner added quickly, "I'm not referring to Jim Chaplin (Social vice president). Jim hasn't done this, but we've had some real problems before."

Hyde Park Extended

Hyde Park will be extended today to last two hours—from noon to 2 p.m.—instead of the normal hour.

According to Randy Paul, executive assistant in the ASBYU Academics Office, the lengthened session for the open debate was arranged to accommodate students with noon classes.

Weather permitting, Hyde Park will be in the West Patio of the Wilkinson Center. Proceedings will be moved into the regular meeting place, Wilkinson Center Memorial Lounge, in case of rain or other typical Provo inclemencies.

Paul also stated that during student body elections several Hyde Parks will be held so that candidates will have the chance to face the students and outline their campaigns.

ASBYU CANDIDATES

... should be prepared to take the Rules and Constitution test today at 7 p.m. in 261 Jesse Knight Bldg. Class officer candidates must also take the tests.

Leaders To Visit Y

Hundreds of bishops and stake presidents of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will visit BYU Thursday for the annual program, instruction, and reunion with students.

Traditionally held in conjunction with the April General Conference of the LDS Church, the event is expected to attract church leaders from wards and stakes all over the world.

Opening event for the day will be a special assembly presented by the College of Fine Arts entitled "Arts for the Joy of Man."

Beginning at 10 a.m. in the George Albert Smith Fieldhouse, the assembly will feature an address by President Ernest L. Wilkinson and a musical-dramatic program featuring the BYU Symphonic Orchestra and the Oratorio Choir.

At 11 a.m., students and church leaders will meet at pre-designated places around the sprawling BYU campus to exchange, "back-home news."

THE COMBINED MUSICAL ABILITY

BYU Symphonic Orchestra and the BYU Choir will be in store for the Bishops and presidents visiting with members of their wards and stakes attending BYU. Classes following the forum will be cancelled so that students may have time to visit with their home bishops.

Information Stressed

ommunication was the topic of a special speech given Tuesday afternoon in the Smith Fieldhouse by Lorin C. Dunn of the First Unit of Seventy.

live in a complex day in a few seconds. The need to be never greater. And yet communications process is inadequate to meet the need," Elder Dunn said. "Dunn underlined the need to avoid being misled in judgments, especially on the campus."

to often," he said, "some of whom are in 'volition business', involve national opinions in their."

tragic time is that even those teachers believe that they are doing is... they have violated the academic trust," he said.

ents, according to Elder

Dunn, have the right to all points of view.

The General Authority went on to discuss communication and the generation gap, placing the main responsibility for crossing the gap on the young.

"The younger generation is always the generation that can understand more things and is able to understand," he said.

"The greatest need to know" the speaker affirmed, "is within ourselves and the only way we can accomplish this is when we establish... communication with our God."

According to Elder Dunn, while communications in the world provide uncertain information, there is a source of adequate knowledge through God and the Holy Ghost.

"When we have this knowledge we find self respect and, more important maybe, we find peace of mind," he concluded.

Three potential contenders for this year's WAC track crown will tangle this weekend and perhaps give a hint as to who will be favored in the championship meet in May.

The BYU Cougars travel to Albuquerque and El Paso for dual meets with the two teams considered most likely to fight them for the crown.

The Cats dropped a meet earlier in the year to UTEP in a triangular affair with Arizona State. The Texans totaled 78 points to 58 for BYU.

The Miners of Texas-El Paso appear to have the inside track unless their depth is cut into by injuries. The Cats and Lobos are almost sure bets to finish in the runner-up spots as everything now stands.

Those who will attempt to change that outlook this weekend include sprinters Jim Blaisdell, Gary Tipton, and Gary Thacker, hurdlers Ralph Mann, Jaakko Tuominen, Tom Bonin, Don French, and Curt Noel; and distance men Dan Babel, Stan and Steve Bergeson, and Paul Hackett.

Field events men carrying the colors this weekend will include shot putter Larry Addams; discus thrower Mike Hoffman; pole vaulter Mike Johnson; high jumpers Chris Celion (a Swede, not a Finn as reported by the local newspapers) and Dan Mendenhall; javelin throwers Dick Legas and Juhani Nummela; and long- and triple-jumpers Karl Palmen, Pertti Pouti, and John Konikowski.

Both meets would appear to be "doozies" with the meet at El Paso earning a "super" label as well. According to the Cat coaching staff, both meets should be close.

Mountain Cat Linksters Defend Western Crown

BYU's young but enthusiastic golf team is in Santa Cruz, Calif., today to begin defense of the Western Intercollegiate golf crown it won last year.

The Cougar linksters opened the spring season last Friday with a 2 1/4 to 5 1/2 romp over the University of San Francisco at the Novato Country Club in Indian Valley.

Sophomore Chip Garriss and freshman Ray Leach led the rout with 72 and 73, respectively.

Leach, one of the brightest prospects ever on the BYU golf scene, was the 1967 California Junior Champion and the medalist in the Conquistadores meet at Tucson in January.

Monday, on a windy cold day in Santa Cruz, the Cougars again won, easily defeating San Diego State, 18 to 8. Against the Aztecs, junior Lane Bennett led the attack with a 74.

Coach Karl Tucker is counting heavily on sophomores and freshmen to try to equal last year's 14-2 dual meet record as well as first place in the WAC, Western, Pacific Springs, and Beehive Tournaments.

Diving Clinic

Dr. Sammy Lee, the 10-meter Olympic Diving Champion in 1948, 1952, and 1956, will conduct a diving clinic today at 7 p.m. in 267 Richards F.E. Bldg.

Following a classroom discussion and a movie, Dr. Lee will take all those who are interested to the diving pool for a demonstration of various diving techniques.

GIRL OF HIS DREAMS

Beardless Cosmo Tells Of Many Experiences

By John Robinson

Associate Sports Editor

Cosmo with a beard?

Clay Green, Cosmo 1968-69, revealed that up until 10 minutes before Cosmo's identity was unveiled during the last home basketball game, he sported a beard.

"I had one all through football and basketball season," Clay stated, "But I thought that I should appear clean shaven when the fans found out who Cosmo was."

Clay got quite a kick out of masquerading as the Cougars' mascot. "I especially enjoyed visiting with the kids at the games," he smiled.

The selection of Clay as this year's Cosmo came about in an indirect manner. When nobody applied for the job, he offered his services to Vice President of Athletics Don Wood who was in charge of supplying a Cosmo for the year. Don gave Clay the job and immediately thereafter some six or so applications came in but by then it was too late.

How did the senior from Yucampa, Calif. keep his identity hidden? "Well," he stated, "When some of my associates began to suspect that I might be Cosmo, I had a friend dress up in my Cosmo costume before a basketball game while I visited with those who were suspicious."

Cosmo is only seen at home events. According to Clay, the Cat mascot used to entertain on the road, but he became too ill treated. "About four years ago," said Clay, "some students from the University of Utah kidnapped Cosmo and gave him a pretty rough time, so he remains strictly in his own habitat now."

Some might remember last year when a "new" Cosmo uniform was exhibited that looked something like a cross between a rat and a mouse but certainly not a cougar. The new Cosmo was jeered unmercifully and lasted for that one event. Now, according to Clay, the old uniform has been patched up and that was the one that was worn in 1968-69.

So, its back to the moth balls for a while until the next football season. Cosmo, it appears, is only a fan of football and basketball (perhaps he liberates in the spring) so spring sports fans will have to do without the friendly BYU trademark.

But to have a Cosmo for just half of the year is better than none at all—just ask the kids and fans.

Cougars Down Illinois, 6-4

Romney got the OK this morning to play baseball for the Cougars this season, and promptly a three-run homerun to lead the Cougars to their first win in the first Invisational tournament.

Romney's round tripper came in the top of the first inning. The University of Illinois had a 4-1 lead in the top half of the first inning.

Romney started the scoring in the second inning and led 1-0 until Illinois scored in the fourth.

Romney took the lead in the top of the sixth with three runs off pitcher Richard Zinniger.

Howard and Mike Knosp hit the bottom half of the sixth inning to back singles. Larry Romney promptly unloaded his first of the season to clear the path.

Folster followed Romney's lead with one of his own after the Cougars led 5-4.

Cougars final tally came in the eighth inning when Dick Folster led off with a single and second on a sacrifice bunt. Romney reached first on an error in the ninth when Fairbanks stole second.

Romney picked up the win for the Cougars allowing 11 hits and four runs.

The first home soccer game will take place on Haws Field when BYU meets Weber after BYU 'B' beats Utah State 'A' for third.

The game will start at 1 p.m. in the second scheduled.

While, BYU soccer has said that it will not seek a date for last Saturday's game.

Will field only one team for the remainder of the year. It will be the BYU clubs in Provo later.

BYU '90 on the year and 7-0 league, should have little trouble with Weber, whose 2-4 record includes a loss to each BYU.

For the Wildcats boast the single-game total scored by the Cougar 'A' this year, and three goals in last fall's BYU 'B' team, this is the game of the year. Last fall, the squad won a 2-1 decision to USU 'A' but the players felt they were won.

For the team has wanted to play USU in Provo, is 3-4 in the league, and a pair of losses to BYU.

The team will be after its game of the year, and its 11th victory. The Cats have won five May 1968.

mound for the Cougars when they meet Mississippi in the second round today. Romney's appearance was totally unexpected. Coach Tuckett was only hoping to use him as a pinch base runner during the tournament.

X-rays taken Monday, however, indicated his hand had healed and Coach Tuckett wasted little time getting him into the lineup. Romney's presence should bolster the Cougar attack which has been potent even without his bat.

Korean Choir Sets Concerts

Although it is made up of oriental students, the 40-voice choir of Yonsei University of Korea will sing a varied program of many nations at its concert at BYU today.

The singers, conducted by Sang Soo Kwak, will perform in the Madison Recital Hall of the Harris Fine Arts Center, beginning at 8:15 p.m.

The program will open with a group of motets and proceed to four madrigals in Italian, German, French and English, then a group of German lieder and some American favorites.

After intermission the male section will sing "Vive L'Amour" arranged by Robert Shaw and the women's chorus will present "Tambourin" a French folk song.

Then will follow a group of Korean folk songs including a Korean classic poem with Soo Wan Yang as soloist. Of special interest will be the use of the tambourine and the Jang-Ku, a typical Korean drum.

The program will conclude with "The Entry into Jerusalem" and "The Twenty-third Psalm" by the Korean composer Yun Young La.

The choir will be honored at a dinner in the Wilkinson Center Wednesday before the concert, with Dr. Spencer J. Palmer, director of BYU Asian Studies, in charge and at a reception following the concert.

On Thursday, they will meet General Authorities of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints at the Church Offices, four Temple Square and attend a practice of the Tabernacle Choir Thursday evening.

In addition to New York and Provo, the singers will appear in Washington, D.C., Chicago, Detroit and San Francisco.

A Special Program Is Slated

"Arts for the Joy of Man," an original musical-dramatic program featuring the BYU Symphony Orchestra and Oratorio Choir, will highlight Bishop's and Stake President's Day, Thursday.

Hundreds of bishops and stake presidents of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will travel to the sprawling Provo campus for the annual program, instruction and reunion with students which is traditionally held in conjunction with the April General Conference of the Church.

Beginning at 10 a.m. in the George Albert Smith Fieldhouse, a special assembly will be presented by the College of Fine Arts under the direction of Dean Lorin F. Wheelwright and will feature an address by President Ernest L. Wilkinson.

Spiritual values of Mormonism will be the theme of the assembly which will include the dramatic work, "The Mormon Miracle," written by Grace Johnson and directed by Preston Giedhill. "Jubilee Overture" will be presented by the Symphonic Orchestra under the baton of Dr. John R. Halliday.

The Oratorio Choir will then sing a hymn and the orchestra and choir will combine to perform "Omnipotence," by Schubert.

Music At Midday

Jazz Happening

Jazz is happening today at noon in the Madison Recital Hall.

Walk right into the swinging sounds of the BYU Jazz Ensemble as they groove-out with an hour long Music at Midday program.

Such jazz writers as Shorty Rogers, Harold Mooney and Oliver Nelson will be featured.

Highlight of the noon-hour program will be an interlude of improvisations with Ron Green at the piano, Randy Dalton on the trumpet, Mike Antrobus on the bass and Ken Miles on the drums.

THE SWEETBRIARS

... rock-and-roll quintet, representing BYU, were recently invited to Hollywood, Calif. to appear on "The All American College Show." Standing with the TV program's star, Dennis James, are Wendy Scott, Russ Bice, Dean Block, Dennis Nichols and Farrelly Bell.

Sweetbriars Win Contest

The Sweetbriars, a singing group from BYU have taped an appearance on "The All-American College Show" starring Dennis James.

To qualify for this appearance on "The All-American College Show," a program on which talented performers from the nation's colleges and universities compete for cash prizes, the Sweetbriars sang a spoof on rock and roll music, "I Dig Rock and Roll Music" and won out in a series of auditions and eliminations conducted by the program's production staff.

Weekly winners on "The All-American College Show" are awarded a trophy and a check for $1000 and later compete in the semi-finals for an additional cash prize of $1500.

Linguists Hone Indian Languages, Hope To Establish National Center

An engineer, a linguist is a linguist.

helping to build that "communications bridge" is a BYU linguist and his wife are writing Indian languages have never been written research contracts from the Peace Corps and the U.S. of Health, Education, and Dr. Robert W. Blair and 15 graduate linguists in Indian, "informants" have placed BYU third in the language development with the Peace Corps. Comparing basic courses and series for several Central and American Indian languages at challenge," reports Dr.

go to the area where the is spoken and approach it unknown language—just as did when he met the here.

BASED ON SOUNDS in through linguistics (a work for analyzing a to develop an alphabet, a, and a dictionary), we and write them down cover what makes the "tick," Dr. Blair able tape recorders are tools for the linguistics, dying the recordings of tions, they write words in the Roman alphabet so language can be written on typewriter.

ties from six to 12 months stop a basic first-year "Dr. Blair reports. "And later, America's first great grapher, had things tively easy because he had references to the native tongue when he wrote his onary."

SEVERAL TEXTS Blair and his graduate s have produced the language textbooks: (1) els for the Guarani spoken by two million in Paraguay, Bolivia, Brazil, ntina, (2) two levels of and, and basic levels of and Mam, spoken by one Guatemalan Indians; (3) el of Navajo, spoken by 110,000 Indians in the western U.S.; (4) two levels of Mayan, spoken by 400,000 Indians in Mexico and Central America; (5) some materials printed in Quechua, spoken by eight million Indians in Bolivia, Peru, and Ecuador; and (6) some work in Aymara, spoken by one million Indians in Peru and Bolivia.

With 24 graduate linguists enrolled, BYU has more Indian languages taught in its curriculum than any other university in the world. Except for the Aztec language, BYU linguists are prepared to teach a semester course in all of the languages mentioned earlier.

Dr. Blair or his associates have taught or are teaching the modern spoken Indian languages of Mayan, Cakchiquel, Inca, Navajo, and presently Quechua and Guarani.

The linguist envisions the day when BYU would be a national center for specialized training in the areas of translation and language research, teaching English as a second language, and working on language teaching methodology.

BYU's library on the American Indians, claims Dr. Blair, is comparable to the Indian libraries at Harvard, Tulane, and Princeton. Noteworthy in his linguistics endeavors is the first Indian language translation of the Book of Mormon in the language of Cakchiquel. The first part has just come off the university's IBM printer for checking.

"When the Book of Mormon translations can be made for the major Indian languages in Latin America, this will mean a great deal to both the LDS Church missionary efforts and the history of the Indians in written form," Dr. Blair asserts.

AZTEC NEXT

He dreams of the day that he is given permission to write the Aztec language because there are one million Aztecs in Mexico, far more than any other tribe. Next in number is Mayan, for which he has already written a grammar text while on a post-doctoral fellowship at the University of Chicago in 1964-65.

After these Indian languages are put into writing, the next problem is the BYU linguist foresees is getting the various countries to educate their Indian populations. And he said, BYU would like to participate in these literacy programs.

Home Leaders To Visit

By Debi West

It's a real scramble to put the right BYU students with the right bishops and stake presidents in the right rooms when there are thousands of students and 1200-1500 church leaders "to put!"

Each year at this time, church leaders from around the world gather on Temple Square to attend April Conference. Here in Provo many BYU students have not seen their bishops or stake presidents for several months.

Thus, an idea was born five years ago. Wouldn't it be nice if BYU could set aside a special day during this spring and bring these two groups together? And so it came to pass...

Under the direction of the Student Relations Dept., the Thursday before conference weekend is dedicated to the fulfillment of this goal of reuniting Cougars and their bishops and stake presidents.

Tradition dictates that the day begin with a special forum at 10 a.m. presented by one of the entertainment departments on campus. Receiving the nod this year is the Fine Arts Dept., which will present "Arts for the Joy of Man." "Green seat" treatment is given to the visitors and their families.

Russia Splits

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union split with the United States and Britain in the U.N. Security Council today on the eve of Big Four peace talks on the Middle East.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik threw his country's support behind an Asian-African resolution demanding condemnation of Israel for an attack on a Jordanian village last Wednesday.

The United States and Britain objected to the resolution on grounds that it did not mention attacks by Arab guerrillas on Israeli territory that provoked the Israeli retaliation.

The United States said it would abstain on the resolution, and similar action was expected by Britain.
